

This Magic May Make Your Coin Disappear But That's Nothing Compared to What the IRS and Congress Have in Mind

You're probably wondering why a tax accountant is sending you a magic coin trick. Here's why, with all the hocus pocus going on in Washington with the tax laws if you plan to do your taxes without the help of a tax specialist you're probably going to need magic to be sure you get the biggest refund allowable by law.

I've been in taxes a long time and I've never seen anything like this. Congress has passed a record number of confusing new tax laws that go into effect THIS tax season! And this time they've changed everything around and Congress, and the IRS, have made filing an accurate tax return almost impossible for regular, hard-working taxpayers like you!

But that's not the worst part, especially for those NOT using a CPA!

New, complicated tax laws and the uncertainty of <inset latest laws> could stop you from receiving tax refunds from Uncle Sam which are suppose to be yours!

And you can rest assured no IRS agent is going to show up on the door step and offer to give you an extra check for the tax refund money you didn't know how to claim. But if you owe THEM money... now that's a different story. They'll be on you like the siding on your house.

Oh, and just for the record, many tax experts are predicting an increase in IRS audits after the April 15th deadline. Why? Well, since there are so many new tax law changes affecting this year's tax filing season, the IRS computer 'check system' is expecting to pick up a higher number of 'red flagged' fax returns.

Add to that the fact that local, state and federal governments are all running a deficient, they'll be trying to get every last penny they THINK you might owe them.

And with the increase in 'incorrectly' filed tax returns comes the assurance of more nasty IRS letters coming to your NEW address and the possibility of those seemingly 'never-ending' stream of IRS agents hassling your for years.

So what should you do about it?
(Good question)
Here's a GOOD answer...

You should choose a tax professional to help you this year. And THIS tax season, a CPA at REFUNDS NOW is your best choice!
